Presents The Correct Use of Electronic Collars in Obedience and Field Training

A one workshop with Anne Everett
March 8, 2014

Welcome to a 1 day workshop focused on the use of electronic collars in obedience and field work. During this workshop you will learn how to effectively and humanely use an electronic collar as part of your training program. The day will begin with a session on how to fit the e-collar and discovering what level of stimulation is appropriate for your dog. We will then discuss the theory behind the use of e-collars, as well as their misuse. The balance of the workshop will be devoted to teaching you the trainer the appropriate use of the e-collar.

A number of obedience and field exercises will be covered. You will have the opportunity to participate in each session, based on the level of understanding your dog has of the obedience or field skill that is the focus of that particular session. For example, your dog must understand the fetch command before that command is reinforced with the e-collar.

This workshop is registrant driven, so please do not hesitate to ask for clarification, or for a particular session to be repeated if you are unsure about methodology.
