TERRY RYAN

Terry Ryan has been a dog training class instructor since 1968. She teaches pet dog classes, writes books, presents national and international seminars and workshops, hosts interns and consults.

Terry was the Coordinator of the People-Pet partnership, College of Veterinary Medicine, Washington State University from 1981 until 1994, where she also did undergraduate studies in psychology. She is on the American Humane Society's advisory board for humane dog training and she an American Kennel Club obedience trial Judge Emeritus.

From 1997 to 2002, Terry taught ten-day behaviour courses at the American Wildlife Foundation in Indiana, using imprinted wolves as the study subjects. In 2002, she was one of six chairs who wrote the national standards for humane dog training for the American Humane Association, which was later published by the Delta Society as Guidelines for Humane Dog Training.

Terry has been hosting dog training camps since the 1980's. For several years, her students trained rats in Skinner boxes, and she has been using chickens as training models since the early 1990s. She has been teaching instructors' courses around the world for over two decades.

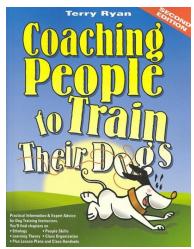

Terry lives with her husband, Bill, in Sequim, WA, with their English Cocker Spaniel, Brody.

- A TWO-DAY SEMINAR BASED ON TERRY RYAN'S FAMOUS TWO-WEEK PROGRAMME "COACHING PEOPLE TO TRAIN THEIR DOGS"

6-7 Oct 2012 Vancouver Island Cowichan Exhibition Centre Duncan, BC

ABOUT THIS COURSE

"Coaching" is a good foundation for new instructors, whether involved with pet, competition or 4-H classes; it is based on Terry's book by the same name, which students receive as part of the course.

The course is also great for experienced instructors as a forum for exchanging ideas, combating instructor burnout, or just seeing what's new or different.

Some clubs sponsor their members' attendance as a thank you or as continuing education for their instructors! Information includes people skills and class organization. Tips to structure classes for the specific needs of your community are included.

A variety of orientation strategies will be discussed. Should dogs attend the first night of class or not? Instructional formatting—what are your objectives, how do you measure your success? Should your course be time or goal driven? Should you offer one-skill classes?

We'll get into the art of listening, learning to observe, effective communication, learning styles, lateral thinking and critical thinking exercises, depth and breadth of knowledge, criteria for selecting training techniques & equipment and what to do about your dropout rate.

Utilizing your area to the maximum, traffic control strategies, effective use of assistants, and options for last class activities will be covered.

Hear about helpful organizations and networking opportunities. This seminar is interactive!

Students will get an idea of how effective various training techniques are by participating in exercises such as "Pavlov's Dog" and "What Humans Teach/What Canines Learn".

This two-day course is an intensive and compressed version of the two-week programme.
