Eyes can help you breed healthier dogs: how an OFA eye exam can help your breeding program

Dr. Amber Labelle DVM MS DACVO

What is involved; how the results are interpreted; and the reasons that OFA eye exams are recommended yearly for all dogs used in breeding programs.

The 'Art' of artificial insemination: how to plan and maximize your success

Dr. Evan Bell DVM, Vets on Main

What options are available; how do we plan for it; and how do we improve our results. We will discuss hormone (progesterone) timing in detail and learn why it is a critical part of success.

CKC Health and Breeder Initiatives

Alistair Sutherland, Harbinger Gordon Setters

Dr. Amber Labelle (she/her) is a 2004 graduate of UC Davis, the number one ranked veterinary school in the United States. She completed an equine internship and worked in equine ambulatory practice for several years before specializing in ophthalmology. After completing a residency and MS degree at the University of Illinois in 2010, she worked in academia, private practice, and industry.

She is the founder and owner of Bright Light Veterinary Eye Care and an Adjunct Professor at the University of Illinois. She is passionately committed to helping co-create an equitable and sustainable future for the veterinary profession.

Dr. Evan Bell (he/him) is a 2015 graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College and has worked in small animal practices, both general practice and emergency. Since moving to Ottawa, he has developed a keen interest in reproductive health for dogs and has been a strong advocate for responsible breeding that emphasizes healthier puppies.

Alistair Sutherland (he/him) is a well-known face in the local canine community. He has spent over forty years exhibiting and breeding Gordon Setters under the Harbinger kennel name. Recently, Alistair served as the Canadian Kennel Club Zone 5 Director. Coming from an extensive career in the human health care side, he currently combines his interests in canine health and reproduction as a serving member of the CKC Health and Genetics Committee.
